occupied by troops who wore red-bordered black epaulets. A ruin at the front side of the installation was pulled down by soldiers wearing red-bordered black epaulets. The borad fence surrounding the billeting area was replaced by a brick wall with barbed wire. A new gate was under construction at the rear of the installation. Telephone cables were suspended in the tree tops along the rear of the barracks installation. A telephone switchboard was believed to be housed in a cross-shaped building at the rear of the Albrechts Kaserne. A dispensary was also there.

artillery insignia were identified at the installation. Nine officers, wearing red-bordered black epaulets with artillery insignia including three colonels, were seen going in and out of the Soviet office at 7-9 Hovengasse. Three captains wearing red-bordered black epaulets with artillery insignia arrived at the office by bus from Stockerau (0 49/S 21).

2. Sixteen AA guns of about 80-mm with muzzle brake, and four trailers with generators were seen in the cantonment along the road to Biesamberg. The muzzle brake of one of the guns had six to eight slits parallel to the gun barrel. The troops in the cantonment were engaged only in gun cleaning duty.

3. On 9 November, eight AA guns with funnel-shaped muzzles were seen in the Prinz Eugen Kaserne in Stockerau. Soldiers with red-bordered black epaulets cleaned four of the guns from which the protective shields had been removed. About 65 soldiers were drilling in the barracks yard. Seven officers, including four lieutenant colonels were seen in the billeting area.
